

You've booked your class visit to Christchurch Art Gallery Te Puna o Waiwhetū. Nau mai, we look forward to welcoming you!

We display many precious and important works of art and want your class and everyone else to enjoy them. Here are our rules to help protect your group and the works of art, and to make the Gallery an enjoyable space for everyone to be in. Please make sure you talk about these with your class before your visit.

No touching or getting close to the artwork or frames

Why? Because some of the art is delicate and breakable, but mostly to protect them from getting dirty and damaged over time.

No running inside the Gallery

Why? To avoid trips and falls and to make sure artworks are not damaged by the vibrations of running feet.

Use inside voices

Why? To make sure all our visitors can enjoy the space.

When using the stairs keep left and hold on to the rail

Why? To keep students safe and to make it easy for other visitors to use the stairs.

Students must stay with their group

If a student needs to go to the toilet, they must ask permission and be accompanied by an adult.

No food or drink in the exhibition spaces

Why? To protect artworks from being damaged by spills and any pests attracted to the crumbs. You are welcome to eat and drink in the foyer.

No backpacks or large bags in the exhibition spaces

Why? To avoid damage caused by accidental bumps. If necessary, teachers or adults may carry small first aid supplies that are needed while on tour. General first aid supplies are available at the front desk.

2B pencils only

No markers, crayons, coloured pencils or pens are permitted in the exhibition spaces. Why? To protect artworks from damage.
