

NEW ZEALAND
SOCIETY OF POTTERS

26th NATIONAL EXHIBITION
1984

This Exhibition is the 26th National Exhibition of the New Zealand Society of Potters and as President of this Society, I am both pleased and happy to see it so proudly displayed at the Dunedin Public Art Gallery.

Pleased, because as a National Society we are concerned that each region participates in our Annual Exhibition with its organisation involving the potters locally. Travel costs continue to rise, and moving our centre annually provides the stimulus to encourage all our members to strive for excellence in their work.

I am happy to see the exhibition displayed in this Art Gallery because it indicates that the Society's striving for excellence is appreciated and acknowledged by the curators of the Gallery.

New Zealand Potters have an important link with Dunedin in that the Otago Polytechnic School of Fine Arts runs the only course for potential potters in the country. In fact, this course is one of the very few offered in any craft in New Zealand. Although we are all aware of the contribution made by craftspeople to the lifestyle of New Zealanders, very little is done for their education. The course at the Otago Polytechnic is an exception, but hopefully in the future we can look forward to our enlightened educators to include more craft courses in their plans.

In the meantime, exhibitions, such as the one you are viewing here, provide contributors and viewers alike with an overview of the pottery 'scene' as it is today, here in New Zealand.

Started Plum Tree Pottery in 1964 continuing to present time.

Work at Plum Tree Pottery ranges from many one of a kind of forms, through a limited production series of utilitarian objects. Dinner Ware is produced on a one of a kind commission basis. In spite of the ehavy work schedule, time is set aside for tours through the pottery for children, teachers, and craft groups. The public's support is most rewarding; in fact, over two-thirds of the pots produced are sold right from the showroom in the pottery.
